

SAP - Enterprise Resource Planning

Inersia has the experience of developing a number of business solutions for disparate industries and business verticals. Inersia's team has an in depth understanding of the various business processes that are part of organizations. This experience of ours across industry domains is a source of strength, as it helps us effectively leverage our experience to add value to your existing processes and business needs. Inersia's consulting arm aims at providing a process backbone and framework for a business, concept or an idea so that quick and effective application development can be undertaken. Inersia's entire gamut of technology services are primarily geared towards providing solutions for making businesses connect faster, better and wider. At Inersia, our emphasis is on understanding the business domain and needs before contemplating on a technology solution. Our business solutions are backed by a consulting approach that generates ideas evaluates business processes and helps our clients in formalizing an idea, application, or a process. Inersia offers its business solutions in the domains of business to business, business to consumer, content management, customer relationship management, enterprise resource planning and business efficiency optimization consulting which include enhanced workflow, process streamlining et al. Inersia's business solutions address all the facets and activities that define a given business. Inersia's technology services range from complete design and development of custom software applications to maintenance of existing applications. We ensure that our technology solutions help you increase the effectiveness of your current IT infrastructure. Inersia's rich experience and exposure to various technologies enables us to provide multiple options for client to decide and select the right one. Inersia's technology service offerings can be broadly categorized under the following sections:

- Web Application Development
- Application Customization
- Application Maintenance & Enhancement
- Technology Consulting